“ Brandon My dear friend, my heart is shocked and saddened by your loss. My words can't really express my feeling of loss. I hope that you know how much i loved you. You were always someone I considered a friend. Someone who always made me laugh. It always surprised me about how tough you really were. You didn't care what people thought of you and you liked who you were. All the anime and karate I just couldn't understand it but that's just what you liked. You were just so cool on the inside and out. The people that got to know you were crazy lucky because you didn't share you with everyone. I wish I could have seen you more and talked to you me. That I will always regret. I will miss you my friend. Please watch over me and Cj. He remembers you by the way. He remembers when you were trying to teach him karate When You all came for a visit ❤️❤️❤️ Rest easy my friend. I hope to see you again. RQ
