*My sincere condolences to Joyce and the entire Natale family. I knew Vinny while we were both at St. Joe's Prep and also while I was in college (with one summer coaching swimming at Clifton Heights Swim Club). Vinny and the entire Natale family were always so caring, thoughtful and fun to be around. When we swam together at Vesper Vinny was a great teammate and fierce competitor. From the many photos it's apparent Vince will be dearly missed by his wonderful family.
With sympathy and prayers,
John Atkinson*

Always enjoyed Vinny's company. He was a great guy and kept us entertained with his ability to tell a good joke.

“ Mr. Natale, one of the best people you could ever hope to meet. The guy had a rare gift that few possess In which no matter what kind of mood you happen to be in, you were walking away with a smile on your face. He was just a positive man to be around. So many fond memories from him throwing vinny and myself one handed at the pool. Or how he could shoot water with his hand with incredible distance and precision that he could hold his own against any store bought water gun. Or the time during Hilltop tournament when we could pick our numbers for the team jerseys, all the parents denied my request for a certain number they deemed to inappropriate for a twelve year old. Seeing my disappointment, Mr. Natale pulls me off to the side and says, “yo Gar, why dont you pick 68 instead?) after finding out the punch line to this number i was elated to pick that number instead. Possibly an even more infamous number in my opinion. I cant say why in this letter but i can say it has something to do with “owing ya one” im sure you can figure out the rest if you think about it. Also during those baseball summers when he would tell us to stay hydrated because “Its a Two towel day today!” A phrase i still say basically every hot day of the year. As i sit here writing this with tears in my eyes struggling to find the words to express my feelings that should come so easily given the subject matter, ironically im still writing with a smile on my face because of how many great memories i have of the man. Whenever you lose someone who was such an important part of your life you always come to that eternal question of “what is the meaning of life?” Im pretty sure when Mr. N reached the pearly gates, st. Peter was waiting with the gates wide open and a big smile on his face sayin “go right on in Vince” without asking him that eternal question. Because i think its safe to say that Mr. Natale has known that answer for a long time. Im gonna miss him and its sad to say goodbye but thanks to that remarkable gift he had i can remember some joke he told me or any orher memory and it will put a big smile on my face anytime i want. Stay out of trouble up there handsome, and thanks for all the happy memories.
Love, Gareth Bates.

“ I will never forget when we first met Vince. My younger son, Gareth had disappeared while playing with his brother and friends. My husband and I were verging on calling the police. Bob was walking the neighborhood and when he asked Vince if he saw a little kid. Gareth was probably 3-1/2 yo. Vince, got into his car immediately to search the neighborhood. We found Gareth had climbed up a neighbor's tree a couple of houses down the street. When the kids were in Little League, both families were so close and enjoyed our good times together. Vinny and Gareth were good friends. Lots of memories.
